Benji Burger

Fun Facts

Up until a few years ago it was the home of several businesses, including Hurricane Brewing Company.

Now known as the Polk Building, 225 Dauphin Street started out as the Sangrouber Van-Antwerp Building.

According to an online blog by George Van Antwerp Jr., it was constructed in 1899 by architect W. H. Hammond. The building is three stories in height and is constructed of brick covered with stucco.

PMT Publishing

Fun Facts

From the 1840s through the 1930s, The Yuille Bakery was located at this site. They provided “Family and Fancy Loaf Bread, Biscuits, Crackers and Cakes of All Kinds,” catering to both the wealthy citizens of Mobile and the steamboats and ships coming through the port city. Also, we’re excited about Greer’s recent foray into downtown Mobile, but it wasn’t the first—photos from the 1940’s show a location at 166 Government.
